PLUS THE ARTS, OUTDOOR RECREATION, CIVIL RIGHTS TOUR

Welcome

Down here, we say that winter temps in the 70s are #VeryValdosta. Truth is, the weather is pretty spectacular year-round. It's just hot enough in the spring and summer to enjoy the outdoor fun, including waterways and a water park, and not too cool the rest of the time to enjoy golf, entertainment on the deck and al fresco dining.

Valdosta is the heart of South Georgia. Interstate 75 leads you to the front doors of the area and extraordinary cuisine, Instagram-worthy sights and memory-making activities can be found from Exit 5 to Exit 29 in Valdosta, Hahira, Lake Park, Remerton and Dasher.

There is always room at the inn with 51 hotels of all types and for all budgets. Plus, there are more than a half dozen campgrounds, each with its own flavor and atmosphere.

When we talk art here, we're not just talking about oil paintings. We're talking about dance, theatre, orchestra, opera, galleries, paint 'n' pours, couples lessons, pottery... no stone is left unturned.

And did I mention that we have a full-blown theme park with a zoo and water park? Oh, that's not all. There are gator and tiger shows, a boardwalk through a swamp, six restaurants and marvelous events at our Wild Adventures Theme Park. One ticket opens the door to numerous experiences at this easy-to-navigate wonderland.

Finally, we can't help but brag about our "downtowns." Yeah, we have more than one. Hahira's is a quaint little hub with cute shops and some foodie delights, Remerton's is the nightlife scene with one pub after the other, each with its own personality, and Valdosta's is the effervescent center of it all with just the right amount of ice cream, coffee, cigars, one-of-a-kind restaurants and retail and year-round events.

Thought you knew us? Come see us. I'm betting we're much bigger and better than you expected.

DON'T FORGET YOUR furry friends

Fido has free reign to visit and explore pet-friendly places throughout the Valdosta area. Enjoy a comfortable stay with your fur baby in one of the many accommodating hotels and dine together in local Southern-style restaurants from the sophisticated 306 North and laid-back Woodstack BBQ Tavern to a quick drink in the taproom at Georgia Beer Co. Must-try activities for your pet include a run at Freedom Dog Park, where there are playgrounds for dogs of all sizes, and a "pupcake" treat at Smallcakes: A Cupcakery.

Nothing defines a region more than those things that have been brought to life there. Here in South Georgia, a strong sense of place springs from the offerings of fertile ground, creative hands and a whole lot of heart. We invite you to come sit a spell.

EAT & DRINK

Hungry? Head downtown and take your pick from restaurants that source ingredients locally when they can. Enjoy the casual, upscale atmosphere of 306 North, which serves up soul food with a side of sophistication. From parmesan-crusted oysters to buttermilk-fried pork chops, it won't take long to see what the fuss is all about. Pro tip: Order one of the daily specials to see which seasonal ingredients inspired the chefs.

Partnering with local farmers, Friends Grille + Bar specializes in modern-casual Southern cuisine and features seasonal produce, natural meats and the freshest seafood they can get their hands on. Sample the buttermilk fried Vidalia onion rings and you'll never want any other kind. And really, why limit brunch to Sunday? These guys dish it up on Saturdays as well.

At Country Love Soul Food & BBQ in Hahira, fresh quality ingredients are always the stars of the show. Classic sides such as black-eyed peas, okra and fried green tomatoes showcase the bounty of the region. But eating Southern is not the only way to eat fresh here. Mom & Dad's Italian Restaurant grows their own basil for pesto sauces and has a loyal following for their pecan cheesecake.

If craft beer is your jam, make a beeline for the taproom or beer garden at Georgia Beer Company, the first brewery in Valdosta and the southernmost brewery in Georgia. Traditional styles abound at the family- and pet-friendly brewery but the brewers also incorporate local ingredients when they can in order to highlight the agricultural bounty of Georgia. Case in point, the Raspberry Blonde Ale is doused with South Georgia fruit. From beach towels to visors, be sure to check out their fun merch.

TAKE IT HOME

Raisin' Cane offers fresh produce, fresh-baked breads, pies and desserts like peach cobbler, home-style dishes such as chicken pot pie and many other Georgia grown delicacies and gift items. Their country kitchen offers daily lunch specials like fried chicken and BBQ pork. Locally supplied candles and lotions round out the mix, as does fresh cane syrup, natch.

A cornucopia of nut-related goodies awaits at B.E. Guess & Sons Pecan Co. Fill a Georgia-shaped basket with mammoth pecan halves, chocolate amaretto pecans, pecan pralines and pecan logs. Also stock up on jams and jellies, pickles and other seasonal goodies.

Meat is the name of the game at The Cattle Company at Parker Farms in Hahira.

Livestock and poultry raised on this multi-generational farm get a diet of grass and grain to yield the best steaks, short ribs and sausages in the region.

Celebrate everything great about the Peach State at Lawson Peach Shed. In addition to fresh peaches, peach ice cream, hot peach cobbler (single servings or by the pan), peach slushies and lemonade, they also offer wraps and burgers and such. People rave about the soft serve blueberry ice cream.

Buckets of fun await at GTB Farms, literally. Sold by the bucket, ripe produce offerings might include strawberries, tomatoes, peppers, squash, zucchini, cucumbers, peas, melons, corn, eggplant and okra. Food just plain tastes better when you've picked it yourself.

With 100 years of blueberry farming under its belt, Mallory's Farm has transitioned into an inviting recreational U-pick farm ready to host a day of family fun. Get schooled in farming life and pick berries to take home for cobbler, ice cream or an energizing smoothie.

Do yourself a favor and also show support for local farming families by visiting Hahira Farmers Market in the heart of town, which features everything from fresh eggs to fresh-cut flowers to peak-of-season produce. Wet your whistle with some locally made peach lemonade.

Second Saturday

Head to downtown Valdosta on the second Saturday of each month for Makers Market. Farmers, growers and artisans from around the region fill Courthouse Square with fresh, handmade goodness.

TAKE IT Outside

Sunny skies and exotic wetlands set the stage for outdoor adventures

ABOVE
Grand Bay Wildlife Management Area

UNDER THE STARS

Sunny days year-round are a big draw to South Georgia but for outdoorsy types the starry night skies are just as amazing. Plenty of RV parks and campsites invite travelers to immerse themselves in the great outdoors.

Bookended by Cain's Creekside RV Park north of Hahira and Eagle's Roost RV Resort near the Georgia/Florida line, a chain of area parks make mingling with Mother Nature a convenient option. Other parks just off I-75 include Lake Park Campground & RV Park, River Park RV Park & Campground and Valdosta Oaks RV Park. Each offers pull-through sites with full hookups, tent sites and bathhouses. Some even have cabin rentals, fishing lakes, playgrounds and dog parks. Find the park that best suits your crew and make it home base for epic outdoor adventures in South Georgia.

WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE

Boat ramps and landings give visitors plenty of ways to get on the Withlacoochee River for kayaking and fishing. The river flows for more than 100 miles past cypress, oaks and pines. Start at Langdale Park, a popular put-in that also has shady picnic areas to make a full day of it.

SWAMP THING

Stroll the winding boardwalk at Grand Bay Wildlife Management Area for an up-close look at the wetlands of South Georgia. Visit the education center before your excursion to get a preview of the wildlife and plants you can spot from the top of the observation tower. Get all the details at www.VisitValdosta.org.

Home to many sparkling lakes just north of the Georgia-Florida line, neighboring Lake Park sees a steady stream of anglers and boaters. Outfitters rent all the gear needed to skim across the lake on kayaks and paddle boards. Pack a picnic and hang out under ancient magnolia and cypress trees covered in Spanish moss. Visitors also rent boats at Grassy Pond Recreation Area in Lake Park to spend a fun day fishing for crappie, bass and bluegill.

With some extra planning, visitors can get scuba certified at Southern Ocean Sports before embarking on an outdoor adventure of a lifetime. SOS provides all the equipment and transportation for freshwater snorkeling trips to north Florida and scuba diving trips to the Gulf of Mexico.

GOOD VIBES

Get ready to rip at Valdosta Wake Compound. Beginners and extreme wakeboarders ride a cable system through a manmade pond with ramps and jumps, choosing which tricks to try along the way. After an afternoon on the water, you might find yourself doing a Front-Left Firecracker or even a Backside 3 off a Marshmallow. The on-site skate park and rental bungalows make this a communal outdoor park where shredding, watching and chilling are equally encouraged.

NICE SHOT!

If your preferred brand of outdoor adventure starts at the clubhouse and ends at the 19th hole, give Valdosta a shot. South Georgia offers its share of golf challenges, from the natural ravines at Kinderloup Forest Golf Club and the wetlands at Stone Creek Golf Club to the towering pines at Francis Lake Golf Club. Add a course or two to your itinerary for a day full of sunshine and epic shots.
